- (8) Rights pertaining to derivative transactions (as provided for in Article 11.2(vii))
 - (i) Claims and obligations arising from transactions of derivatives listed on a financial instruments exchange
The valuation shall be made using the value calculated based on the final price on the financial instruments exchange on the reference date (meaning the closing price; if there is no closing price, the value shall be the one calculated based on the indicative price, i.e. either the final lowest indicative offer price published or the final highest indicative bid price published; if both prices are published, the middle rate shall be used). Further, special treatment for interest rate swaps under accounting for financial instruments and the appropriation treatment under foreign currency-denominated transactions accounting standards relating to forward exchange contracts, etc. may be accounted for accordingly.

Attachment Asset Management Fees Payable to Asset Manager

Enacted: March 28, 2016
Amended: June 30, 2016

Asset Management Fees Payable to Asset Manager

The calculation method and payment period of the asset management fees to be paid to the asset manager are set out below. The Investment Corporation is to transfer an amount equal to these fees plus the applicable consumption tax and local consumption tax into the account specified by the asset manager.

1. Method of calculating the asset management fees

The asset management fees to be paid to the asset manager consist of Asset Management Fees I and II, acquisition fees, disposition fees, and merger fees.

(1) Asset Management Fee I

“Asset Management Fee I” for each fiscal period of the Investment Corporation is the product (prorated according to the number of calendar days in that fiscal period on the basis of a 365-day year; any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) of the total assets as recorded on the balance sheet (only if approved by the board of directors of the Investment Corporation pursuant to the Investment Trust Act; the same hereinafter) of the Investment Corporation as at the Closing Date of the fiscal period immediately preceding that fiscal period (the “Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period”) plus the total of the acquisition price(s) (less consumption tax, local consumption tax and expenses related to acquisition; the same hereinafter) of any assets acquired during that fiscal period prorated according to the number of calendar days between the date of acquisition of each asset and the Closing Date of that fiscal period compared to the total number of calendar days in that fiscal period (any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down), minus the book value as at the time of disposition of any assets sold during that fiscal period prorated according to the number of calendar days between the date of disposition and the Closing Date of that fiscal period compared to the total number of calendar days in that fiscal period (any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down), and a fee rate no greater than 1.0% separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager (“Asset Management Fee Rate I”).

However, Asset Management Fee I for the fiscal period in which the management of the Investment Corporation’s assets is first commenced (the “Initial Fiscal Period”) is the product (prorated according to the number of calendar days in the Initial Fiscal Period on the basis of a 365-day year; any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) of the acquisition price(s) of any assets acquired during the Initial Fiscal Period prorated according to the number of calendar days between the date of acquisition of each asset and the Closing Date of the Initial Fiscal Period compared to the total number of calendar days in the Initial Fiscal Period (any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) and Asset Management Fee Rate I.

(2) Asset Management Fee II

“Asset Management Fee II” is an incentive based on the increase or decrease in the Investment Corporation’s distributions per investment unit for each fiscal period compared to the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period, calculated as the product (any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) of Asset Management Fee II for the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period and the ratio of the amount obtained by dividing the Distributable Amount before deduction of

Asset Management Fee II for that fiscal period (including any distribution in excess of profit approved by the board of directors of the Investment Corporation; calculated by a method separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager) by the total number of outstanding investment units as at the Closing Date of that fiscal period (if the Investment Corporation holds any of its own investment units that have not been disposed of or retired by the Closing Date of that fiscal period, meaning the total number of outstanding investment units as at the Closing Date of that fiscal period less any such investment units held) to an amount calculated in the same way for the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period, multiplied by a multiplier separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager (the “Revised Asset Management Fee II Multiplier”).

However, Asset Management Fee II for the Investment Corporation’s Initial Fiscal Period shall be an amount agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager, taking into account the ratio of the total of Asset Management Fees I and II to the total asset balance, and Asset Management Fee II for the immediately following fiscal period will be calculated using the product (any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) of the amount per day obtained by dividing Asset Management Fee II for the Initial Fiscal Period over to the number of calendar days between the acquisition date of real estate, etc., and the Closing Date of the Initial Fiscal Period, and the number of calendar days in the immediately following fiscal period.

Method of calculation:

$$\text{Asset Management Fee II for each fiscal period} = \text{Asset Management Fee II for the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period} \times (\text{Distributable Amount per investment unit before deduction of Asset Management Fee II for that fiscal period} \div \text{Distributable Amount per investment unit before deduction of Asset Management Fee II for the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period}) \times \text{the Revised Asset Management Fee II Multiplier.}$$

(3) Acquisition fees

When the Investment Corporation acquires an asset (excluding the case where the Investment Corporation succeeds an asset through the Merger provided for in Item (5) of this paragraph), the acquisition fee is to be the product of the acquisition price of that asset and a fee rate no greater than 1.0% (0.5% in the case of an acquisition from an interested party, etc., as defined in the asset manager’s regulations on transactions with interested parties, etc.) separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager (however, if the acquisition fee calculated for a given asset would be less than five million (5,000,000) million Japanese yen, the acquisition fee for that asset shall be five million (5,000,000) million Japanese yen).

(4) Disposition fees

When the Investment Corporation sells an asset (excluding the case where an asset is succeeded through the Merger provided for in Item (5) of this paragraph), the disposition fee is to be the product of the disposition price (less consumption tax, local consumption tax and expenses related to the disposition) and a fee rate no greater than 1.0% (0.5% in the case of disposition to an interested party, etc., as defined in the asset manager’s regulations on transactions with interested parties, etc.) separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager.

(5) Merger fees

In the case of a consolidation-type merger or absorption-type merger between the Investment Corporation and another investment corporation (including the case where the Investment Corporation becomes a surviving corporation in an absorption-type merger, and becomes an absorbed corporation in an absorption-type merger) (collectively, the “Merger”), provided that the asset manager performs an examination and evaluation of the assets held by such other investment corporation, and other services related to the Merger, and the Merger takes effect, (i) if the Investment Corporation carries out an absorption-type merger or consolidation-type merger with such other investment corporation where such other investment corporation becomes an absorbed corporation in an absorption-type merger, the merger fee is to be the product of the appraised value, at the time of such Merger taking effect, of the assets such as the Real Estate Related Assets and Real Estate Related Loans (collectively meaning monetary claims such as loan claims to specified purpose companies (as provided for in the Asset Securitization Act), special purpose companies, and other companies of a similar form whose purpose is to make investment in Real Estate) (the “Real Estate Related Monetary Claims”), bond certificates issued by limited liability companies whose purpose is to make investment in the Real Estate Related Monetary Claims, and beneficial interests of trusts whose main trust assets are the Real Estate Related Monetary Claims; the same applies hereinafter) held by such other investment corporation that the Investment Corporation or a corporation incorporated in such consolidation-type merger succeeds, and a fee rate no greater than 1.0% separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager, and (ii) if the Investment Corporation carries out an absorption-type merger with such other investment corporation where such other investment corporation becomes a surviving corporation in an absorption-type merger, the merger fee is to be the product of the appraised value, at the time of such Merger taking effect, of the assets such as the Real Estate Related Assets and real estate related loans held by such other investment corporation that such other investment corporation continues to hold through such Merger, and a fee rate no greater than 1.0% separately agreed upon between the Investment Corporation and the asset manager.

(6) Remarks

When agreeing on Asset Management Fee I and the amount of Asset Management Fee II for the Initial Fiscal Period, the Investment Corporation and the asset manager shall ensure that the currently expected total of Asset Management Fees I and II as does not exceed approximately 1% of the total assets currently expected to be recorded on the balance sheet for the relevant fiscal period.

2. Timing of payment of asset management fees

(1) Asset Management Fee I

Asset Management Fee I is to be paid in installments on the following dates.

- (i) Three months after the Closing Date of the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period (or on the last day of September 2016 for the Initial Fiscal Period): Payment of the product (prorated according to the number of calendar days in the three month period beginning on the Closing Date of the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period (the “Interim Calculation Period”) on the basis of a 365-day year; any remainder less than one yen to be rounded down) of the total asset value as recorded on the balance sheet as at the Closing Date of the Immediately Preceding Fiscal Period (to be treated as 0 for the Initial Fiscal Period) plus the acquisition price(s) of any assets acquired during the Interim Calculation Period (in the case of the Initial Fiscal Period, meaning the period from the commencement of asset management through the last day of September 2016) prorated according to the number of calendar days from the acquisition date of each asset through the end of the Interim Calculation Period compared to the total number of calendar days in the Interim Calculation Period (any fraction less than one yen to be rounded down), minus the book value at the time of disposition of any assets sold during the Interim Calculation Period prorated according to the number of calendar days between the date of disposition of each asset and the end of the Interim Calculation Period compared to the total number of calendar days in the Interim Calculation Period (any fraction less than one yen to be rounded down), and Asset Management Fee Rate I (that product, the “Interim Payment”).

- (ii) One month after the Closing Date of the relevant fiscal period (December 31, 2016 for the Initial Fiscal Period):

Payment of Asset Management Fee I for the relevant fiscal period, less the amount of any Interim Payment already paid.

(2) Asset Management Fee II

To be paid within three months after the Closing Date of the relevant fiscal period.

(3) Acquisition fees

To be paid by the end of the month after the month in which the relevant asset is acquired (the date of acquisition is to be the date when the assignment of ownership rights takes effect).

(4) Disposition fees
