- The forecasts for the financial results for the fiscal period ending November 2020 is the current forecasts calculated based on the assumptions written in the Attachment “Assumptions Underlying Forecasts of the Financial Results for the Fiscal Period Ending November 2020.” Therefore, actual operating revenues, operating income, ordinary income, net income, distributions per unit (excluding optimal payable distribution) and optimal payable distribution per unit may change as a result of a difference from an assumption. Thus, the forecast information does not guarantee the amount of distributions.
- This forecast information may be revised if it is anticipated it will differ by a particular degree from current forecast information.
- The values are rounded down to the nearest specified unit and percentage is rounded to one decimal place.

2. Reasons for the Revisions

The Investment Corporation has decided to make this revision to the forecasts of financial results and distributions, given that a change by 5% or more is now expected to occur in the forecast of distributions per unit for the 9th fiscal period ending November 2020 as a result of the spread of the COVID-19 coronavirus (hereinafter “the coronavirus”).

After the expansion of the coronavirus, even the assets owned by the Investment Corporation, which mainly serve domestic customers, have been seeing a significant rise in self-restraint on trips and other activities, particularly since March this year. The revised forecasts have been calculated from a conservative perspective on the assumption that the impact of the coronavirus will last for at least three months and that no variable rent will occur from any of the assets, given that an improvement in the current circumstances is unforeseeable at present in a situation where the modified gross operating profit (GOP), which serves as a basis for the calculation of variable rent, is expected to fall with respect to all assets currently under the ownership of the Investment Corporation. The forecasts for the 8th fiscal period ending May 2020 remain unchanged from those announced on January 21, 2020.
